

Competition is the American way of life. Please do not allow companies to be able to force me to only have one choice. Even now, the electric companies must allow you to pick your provider and price that you will pay. I feel that all utilities should be this open if possible. The only other way to compete is to install dozens of lines to every home, can you imagine the mess? Please encourage competition in our country, and let me choose the services that I want in my home or business. A single company should not be able to dictate to me what I must buy, just because they are the only provider.
